ASH WEDNESDAY COLLECTION: UKRAINE & NEIGHBORING COUNTRIES: Catholics are again encouraged to give to the collection for the Church of East and Central Europe, which for three decades has helped churches in 28 nations to recover from communist oppression. #iGiveCatholicTogether “As the war began, Catholics in the United States quickly mobilized to help Ukrainians, bringing healing where there is war, hope where there is despair, and faith that will lead to justice and peace,” said Bishop Jeffrey M. Monforton of Steubenville, chairman of the U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops’ Subcommittee on Aid to the Church in Central and Eastern Europe. “Last year, thanks to your generosity, some dioceses doubled or even tripled their giving, but as the war in Ukraine continues, the need continues there, and in other countries within the region, the need has also grown substantially.” The U.S. bishops expedited nearly 50 emergency grants for war-related relief to churches and Catholic organizations in Ukraine and several neighboring countries.
